Crystal chandeliers involve stylized, expertly cut pieces of crystal that drape throughout the chandelier. In many cases, the “candle holders” also have crystal accents. The idea behind this type of design is best explained as ramping up the decadence.

The drippy, watery look of the bead arrangements works well with both modern and more traditional home layouts. Since waterfall chandeliers can come in both large and small sizes, chances are high that you'll find one that works with your room size.

As the name suggests, this spacey-looking chandelier style features light-up LED circles that are hung from the ceiling. Sometimes, it's a single ring. Other times, as the picture above shows, it can be multiple rings that are elegantly hung together at different angles. These offer a crisp and clean look that works well with almost any modern theme.
